

Eyes of World Focus Here On Fight Between Lawyer and Warden To Kill Her and 'Her Friend'

GRIM SING SING SEES ITS MOST DRAMATIC LIFE BATTLE While virtually the whole world waited expectantly today for the outcome of the last ditch desperate battle being waged for the lives of Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray, those within the grim walls waited as tensely, every faculty centered upon the fight.

TRIES TO SAVE GRAY Samuel L. Miller, counsel for Judd Gray, quickly saw a ray of hope in a stay granted to Ruth Snyder, and sought a similar reprieve for Judd.

DECIDES THEIR FATE It fell to the lot of Warden Lewis E. Lawes to decide what he should do, so he appealed to the Attorney General as he prepared for the executions.

'CHEER UP,' SAYS HER LAWYER, 'YOU ARE NOT DEAD YET'

Attorney General intimated he was deeply aroused over the latest legal angle.

It was declared here that if Warden Lawes follows the advice of the Governor he will send Mrs. Snyder and Gray to their death sometime after 11 o'clock tonight.

"The Governor is convinced that Justice Levy's order is illegal and that there should be no hesitancy in sending Mrs. Snyder and Gray to the chair tonight," declared one of the Governor's advisers.

Warden Lawes, if he so desires, can legally delay the executions until Saturday night.

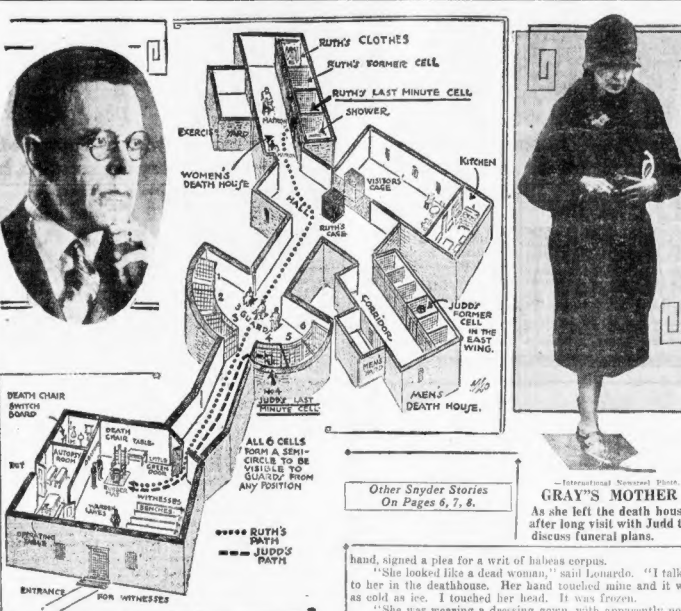

Two moves in behalf of Gray were executed by his counsel, Samuel L. Miller, while officials were in the utmost confusion regarding the status of the Snyder stay.

Miller was believed to have failed in an effort to save his client from death when he sought—and failed to obtain—a writ of habeas corpus in the Federal Courts.

Miller appeared before Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard who referred him back to Judge Alexander Gilchrist of the District Federal Court, whose duty it is to pass on all such papers. Judge Gilchrist refused to take action, saying there was no case in the application. Attorney Miller said he would have no announcement to make until 6 o'clock tonight. However, had he obtained a writ, or assurance of a writ, it is believed he would have hastened to make known his victory.

The second move was dispatch of a telegram to Governor Smith asking that Gray, too, be given additional time if Mrs. Snyder's execution was to be stayed. Governor Smith gave no indication of what his reply would be.

The Path of Death For Ruth and Judd

WHERE THEY WILL WALK TO DOOM Diagram of the arrangement of the death house at Sing Sing and its relation to the room containing the electric chair that will send the doomed slayers to eternity. Inset shows Judd Gray.

Executioner Told to Be Ready

Attorney Miller of Gray's counsel sent the following telegram to the Governor, who is stopping at the Biltmore Hotel:

"We pray that in simple justice you grant a reprieve to Henry Judd Gray for a period covering the time in which the life of Ruth Brown Snyder may be spared by the court.

"It would be frightfully unfair to permit any advantage to be given Ruth Brown Snyder to enjoy the additional days of life which Henry Judd Gray could not also enjoy."

A copy of the telegram was also sent to Warden Lawes at Sing Sing.

A determined effort will be made to save Ruth's body from the state's "orgy of the knives," Joseph Lonnardo, of her counsel, said today. Lonnardo said he would take legal action to prevent the state's customary autopsy at which the bodies of executed persons are mutilated for scientific study.

"The autopsy, at which the brain and vital organs of the executed person are removed, is a barbarous and illegal rite, and I shall seek an injunction to prevent one being conducted," said Lonnardo.

Performing of the autopsy would violate the constitutional rights of relatives to possession of the body, Lonnardo declared. Warden Lawes made the significant statement he believed "Gray will not be executed alone." If Mrs. Snyder is not electrocuted tonight he was of the opinion the stay granted her would automatically delay Gray's execution, since they had been ordered to die at the same time.

Electrician Prepares Chair

Meanwhile Gray and Ruth remained in their cells, not knowing whether they would die today or live for a few more hours. They had learned of the stay, and appeared to be encouraged.

"I am glad for Ruth," Gray said, simply and without emotion. "I have no reason to wonder over her in my heart. I am at peace with my fellow man."

George Gieg, the electrician, continued about his work of preparing the chair as if there was no doubt that the execution would take place. The official executioner, acting on telephoned orders from the prison, was ready in his house in Richmond Hill to come here and throw the fatal switch.

Mrs. Snyder awoke shortly after 9 o'clock after a fitful night's sleep. Before she went to bed last night she was in a highly nervous state as her eyes were red from weeping. She had said repeatedly: "I don't want to die—I'm too young to die. And I'm afraid they're going to kill me."

Something about the atmosphere of the inside of the prison caused the murderers to "renew" that there had been a favorable development, as far as she was concerned, and she seemed a little more cheerful.

Gray was his usual calm self. Quite serenely he ate a good breakfast and then turned to the reading of his Bible.

It has been tentatively decided that two matrons will walk inside Mrs. Snyder as she is led to the execution chamber tonight—if the electrocution is not definitely halted. The walk is about 160 feet.

Gray will be taken to one of the "last minute" cells late today. From there it is only a few steps to the chamber of death.

There will be ten guards and attendants in the execution chamber, in addition to Warden Lawes—four men to adjust the straps, two guards, the men who will give the death signal, an official timer and Robert Elliott, the tall, hollow-eyed executioner. The latter will pull the switch.

"They're Going to Kill Me"

Twenty newspapermen, four physicians and the prison chaplain will also witness the execution.

Elliott, the official executioner, telephoned to the prison this morning from his home in Richmond Hill, N. Y., and asked for instructions.

"Be ready," he was told.

A telegram was cited at Sing Sing from "The Soul Mates' Union," of Washington, D. C., which read:

"Kindly let Mrs. Snyder and Gray have their last 24 hours together."

Mail came to Warden Lawes from all parts of the country. A number of telephone calls have been received at the prison, many from cranks; and others from religious persons who desire to offer consolation to the condemned couple.

Mrs. Snyder was not immediately informed of the spectacular victory on the part of her lawyers. She retired last night full expecting that today would be her last day on earth. She was visited by Attorney Joseph Lonnardo, and, in a shaking his knowledge and by the alleged connivance of his wife. The prosecution held at the trial that it was the main motive for the murder. Since the trial the Prudential Insurance Company has taken legal action to cancel the insurance on the ground that it was obtained by fraud. On the death of Mrs. Snyder the insurance would, if legal, become the property of her child, Lorraine, to whom she has willed her belongings.

In order that Mrs. Snyder might appear as witness in the insurance case, the stay of execution would have to continue for three or possibly four weeks, and then Ruth would have to be re-sentenced to the chair by the State Court of Appeals, some experts saying that this course would keep the woman alive for two years.

Judge Levy's only comment on his order was:

"It may well be, after oral argument, that there is a lack of merit in the application; but no one may gain say that the least that this infant (Lorraine) is entitled to is the opportunity to be heard."

May Be For Two Years

"This must, of necessity, occur in a very brief time, and obviously neither the State nor any person can be aggrieved by the delay of possibly a day."

One place where the news of the stay of sentence was received with nothing but joy was at the home of Ruth's mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown. She knew of the eleventh hour move to stay execution because she had signed an affidavit which Judge Hazleton presented to Supreme Court Justice Levy.

"Thank God! Thank God!" the aged and pitifully worn woman exclaimed. She had been in a condition verging on a breakdown. She added: "Can it be true? I can hardly believe it, but I have always hoped that something would intervene."

Ruth's brother, Andrew Brown and his wife, Margaret, were elated even though the stay, on the face of it, is a short one.

Ruth Snyder showed yesterday the preliminaries to the collapse that came today. Judd Gray, on the other hand, seemed then as today, indifferent to his fate.

The woman had been told of Governor Smith's denial of prayer for mercy, first by the playing back in the eyes of the prison matrons, and second orally by her brother when he visited her. Andrew Brown, her brother, spent an hour with her after telling her the news which she had already guessed.

Ten Months Span of Snyder-Gray Case

New York, Jan. 12 (A.P.)—Following is a clear calendar of the Snyder-Gray case:

March 29, 1927—Albert Snyder, 45-year-old editor of magazine Boating, is found dead in his Queens Village house, his head beaten by a submachine gun, a chloroform pad over mouth and nose and surrounded by picture wire. Mrs. Snyder tells her husband was killed by burglars.

March 31—Henry Judd Gray, 21-year-old coronel cadet, is arrested in Syracuse, N. Y., after Mrs. Snyder makes "confession" in which she lays entire blame on him.

April 1—Snyder confesses that he and Mrs. Snyder jointly killed her husband, by striking the first blow and she finishing the murder. Says one motive was to get $25,000 insurance on Snyder's life for Mrs. Snyder.

March 23—Snyder is barred and his wife and Gray are indicted for his murder.

March 24—Mrs. Snyder and Gray make "confession" in which she lays entire blame on him.

April 1—Trial postponed until April 1 because of trial date fell in Holy Week.

April 12—Four alibis report that neither defendant is in jail.

April 18—Trial opens before Justice Hazleton in Court A.

April 22—Mrs. Snyder tells of her own defense, laying entire blame on Gray.

Gray whom she says she tried to deter.

May 3—Gray takes stand and confirms first confession. Says he was under domination of Mrs. Snyder and was merely her drunken slave.

May 3—Case goes to jury and in less than two hours verdict of guilty is returned.

May 12—Mrs. Snyder and Gray sentenced to electrocution in week of June 23, but filing of appeals automatically stays execution.

May 12—Prisoners taken to Sing Sing Prison.

July 21—Company that insured Snyder files suit for cancellation of policy.

July 21—Gov. Smith announces he finds no reason to halt progress of justice.

Jan. 11—Stay of execution until 11 a. m. Jan. 12, granted for Mrs. Snyder by Supreme Court A.

Jan. 12—Execution of Gray and Snyder set for 11 a. m.

AND OVER COUPLE RUSH TO ADOPT EVERETT BABY

SUNSHINE FOR SOMEONE

WANTED: A HOME
This lovely baby, whose first name is Yvonne, is offered for adoption in Everett. Among those interested in Little Sunshine is Clifford P. Oleson, Boston-New York air mail flier.

DRIVE TO HOUSE FEARING TO BE TOO LATE

All the infant wisdom of her fifteen months on earth seemed from the startling blue eyes of Yvonne today as more than 100 men and women who seek to become her new parents filed in review before her.

At No. 12 Devens street, Everett, the present address of the girl who must find a new home, the event said began to arrive but night in creased rather than diminished today.

Only yesterday the Boston Evening American printed the story of how Mr. and Mrs. Roach must give up the baby taken by Gen. time gentles ago because of an operation which Mrs. Roach must undergo Saturday.

A few hours after publication of the story it appeared that there were hundreds of homes in the state where the sunshine of a happy child was needed to dispense the shadow of Clinton P. Oleson, Boston-New York air mail flier, was the first prospective father to call at the Roach home.

Shortly after Oleson's visit, a couple who had driven from Andover arrived, fearing they might be too late. Several others arrived early today before the child had awakened and by the time Yvonne had partaken of her bacon and eggs—of which of course her mother and father were waiting on the front piazza for their turn to exclaim over the baby.

Yvonne wants a good home, deserves a good home and is going to get one now that she must leave the loving care of Mr. and Mrs. Roach. And she has the choice of a great many.

"I'm not going to keep him. I'm going to take my time and be sure," she said today, or it was sometime like that.

EAST MILTON'S THEATRE FIGHT OPENS TOMORROW

PETITIONS ASK PERMIT BE GRANTED

Arrived by the refusal of the Milton selectmen to grant a permit for a moving picture theatre in Adams street, East Milton, hundreds of townspeople will attend the meeting of the board tomorrow evening when it is expected a move for reconsideration will be made by the Market Amusement Company.

Whether the town should grant the permit has been the subject of much controversy since Dec. 29 when a public hearing was held. The application was denied by a vote of 23 to 22.

The theatre was completed at a cost of $15,000 by Harold Russell of Milton. Frederick C. Gaskins, counsel for the owners, declared today he would carry the case to court if the board refused to reconsider.

"I made a careful canvass of the town before voting on the application and I decided that probably 50 per cent. of the people were in favor of having a theatre here," said Selectman Joseph Babcock, Jr., who favors the theatre.

The only argument advanced by the opposition is that of a moral hazard.

Anna McEllan, Harriet Story, Elsie White, Miss McIntyre and Elsie Murch were among the hundreds of Milton girls who signed petitions to be submitted to the selectmen favoring the opening of the theatre.

Prominent women of the town have aided in obtaining signatures to petitions. Among the workers are Miss Florence A. Walters, Mrs. Charles E. Wadsworth and Mrs. Matthew McGrath, all of East Milton. Mrs. McGrath is treasurer of the Belcher School Association.

HOLD STUDENT AT HARVARD AS 'PEEPER'

Francis R. Linn, twenty-year-old Harvard junior, who rooms on the Gold Coast, in East Cambridge Court today pleaded not guilty to disturbing the peace, a charge arising from the arrest as a "Peeping Tom," and on his request the case was continued to Monday.

Linn, son of William H. Linn of South Zanesville, O., was arrested by Patrolman Anne L. Bernier after girl residents of the Larchwood section of Cambridge, near the Fresh Pond parkway, had complained they were afraid to go home because of the actions of a man.

Bernier told the court that he found Linn being questioned by a man resident of the neighborhood who said he had watched the youth for an hour peeping into windows and acting peevishly in back yards. The colleague declared he was watching the movements of a skunk.

$250,000 COTTAGE FARM BRIDGE APPROACH URGED

A bill to authorize construction, in connection with the new Cottage Farm bridge, of an approach costing $250,000 from the Brookline-Boston side, was filed today with the Legislature by Representative Albert P. Bingham of Brookline.

B. & M. MAY ADD HOTEL TO HUB TERMINAL

The new North Terminal may be built to include a hotel or public office building, if the sponsors so desire.

Supreme Court Justice Wait dismissed today a bill in equity brought by Edmund D. Conman against the Boston & Maine Railroad for an injunction to restrain the building of a North Terminal to be put partially to service as a hotel or office building.

The dismissal was on a report by Fred T. Field, master, that Colman's counsel had refused to go forward and attempt to offer proof on the foundation of the building alone, after he had been denied admissibility of plans for the upper structure.

ARGUES PREVENTIVE MEDICINE DIVISION

Establishment in the State Department of Health of a division of preventive medicine was urged at a hearing today before the legislative committee on State administration by Armand C. Bang of New Haven. "We have billions for pills, but not one cent for preventive advice," he said.

HUB VALUATION UP 41 MILLION IN A YEAR

The valuation on which the spending power of the city is based today showed a jump of $10,552,000.51 over last year, according to figures made public by the assessing department. The large increase, taken in conjunction with an expected increase of at least $200,000 in "free cash," when the accounts for 1924 are finally closed and with a normal increase of upwards of $250,000 in ways and means other than taxes, indicate a spending power of at least $1,000,000 more in 1925 than in 1924.

SADIE KELLEY'S MOTHER-IN-LAW DROPS DEAD

Less than a dozen hours after welcoming home from the honeymoon her son and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Flora K. Kelley of Belmont, mother-in-law of the former Sadie Kelley, who operated a chain of sandwich shops in Boston, dropped dead in her home.

Mrs. Kelley had attended a dinner last evening in the couple in their Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre home. It is believed the excitement brought on a heart attack.

She was 52 years old and was the wife of George H. Kelley, for half a century an undertaker in Cambridge. Two sons and two daughters also survive.

Sadie Kelley, the Boston "sandwich queen," and George Henry Kelley, Harvard graduate and a Hub broker, were married less than two months ago, on November 11.

They went to Europe for the honeymoon and returned to New York yesterday on the liner Kaiser, immediately enjoining for Joseph.

The bridegroom's mother and a party of other relatives met the couple at the Back Bay station and then went by automobile to Sadie Kelley's home in Commonwealth avenue, where the newlyweds plan to live for a time.

A dinner was served and a reception held. At 12 p. m. Mrs. Kelley, senior, left for her home in Peabody street, where she was found with an attack and dropped dead.

TRAGEDY OF S4 RE-ENACTED OFF CAPE N PROBE

Provincetown, Jan. 12 (A.P.)—A Coast Guard destroyer and a submarine, after striking the Pacific and the S4 which crashed at Provincetown on December 17, set out from the harbor here today to reenact the tragedy before the naval court of inquiry investigating the collision.

The court, headed by Rear Admiral Richard H. Jackson, arrived here this forenoon aboard the destroyer Henry, to inspect the scene and the salvage operations now under way. The Henry was on a station near the spot beneath which the S4 rests, while the Coast Guard destroyer Monahan and the submarine S4 were assigned to positions similar to those of the Pacific and the S4 a few minutes before the collision that sent the submarine to the bottom with her crew of 41.

NAVAL EXPERTS.
Aboard the Monahan were three naval experts, Captain H. D. Cook, assistant to the commanding officer of the first naval district, Commander W. H. Loring, of the naval district staff, and Commander John H. S. Jones, commanding the destroyer Childs.

On the S4 were Lieutenant Frank L. Walden, commanding officer of the submarine S4, and Lieutenants W. B. Anderson, Jr., and Clark Withers of Submarine Division 12. Later the experts on the Monahan and S4 will go before the court at Boston and testify as to their observations.

DIVERS AT WORK.
Six divers descended to the S4 during the forenoon and began the work outside the submarine in preparation for the salvaging operations. None entered the hull and no efforts toward recovery of any of the eight bodies remaining inside it were made.

As soon as possible the torpedo room will be opened and an attempt made to force the water out of the compartment in which there are known to be two bodies. These probably will not be recovered until after the submarine is raised.

15 Bodies From S4 Identified by Navy
Washington, Jan. 12 (A.P.)—The Navy Department today announced identification of the fifteen bodies recovered from the submarine S4 yesterday. They were:

Lieutenant Donald Walter, Los Angeles.
Walter Bishop, radio man, Washington, D. C.
Earl Walsh Boone, chief electrician's mate, Hartford, Ct.
Henry Harris Brown, fireman, third class, Fitzgerald, Ga.
Elmer Lyford Cash, chief radio man, Shreve, Ind.
Robert William Diefenbach, signalman, Louisville, Ky.
Daniel Michael Galvin, fireman, New York.

Donald Fred L. Goening, electrician's mate, Vallejo, Cal.
Dewey Victor Harty, ship's cook, Unity, Ky.
Ruster Harris, seaman, Newbury, S. C.

Paul Richard Kumpfer, electrician's mate, Navy Club, Pa.
John Joseph Powers, coxswain, Worcester, Mass.
Rodolph James Rose, electrician's mate, Alameda, Calif.
Carl Bernice Strange, seaman, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Walter Ross Tolson, seaman, first class, Knoxville, Tenn.
With the recovery and identification of the fifteen bodies there remained in the S4 today the bodies of the men whose names are known, and these were:

William Dempsey, machinist's mate, sister, Mrs. A. Mannheim, care of the Postoffice Bank, Waterville, Ontario, Canada, and Joseph William Swenson, engineer, Mrs. Mrs. Myrtle S. Sturman, 89 Knowlton street, Riverside, R. I.

S4 Probe by Civilian Commission Approved
Washington, Jan. 12 (A.P.)—The Senate naval committee today approved the joint resolution calling for an investigation by a special commission into the sinking of the submarine S4.

The vote, 9 to 5, was along party lines and overrode the objection of the Democratic members, who insisted upon a Congressional inquiry into the disaster.

After the meeting the Democrats announced they would carry the fight to the floor of the Senate. The resolution, which already has passed the House, was amended by the Senate committee to require a report of the commission by March 27 instead of May 15.

Later Senator Trammell, Democrat, Florida, offered a resolution calling for an investigation of the disaster by a special committee of the Senate.

NAVIGATION CLASS TO REOPEN AT YACHT CLUB
The second annual class in navigation of the Boston Yacht Club will open this evening at the club, No. 8 Rowe's wharf. Preliminary arrangements indicate the largest class ever, it being expected that about 80 will study during the term.

While the course is primarily for Boston Yacht Club members, a number of prominent yachtmen of other clubs have been accepted as students. The instructor, whose name is being kept a secret for the present by the chairman of the class, will be one of the best known yachtsmen in New England on nautical navigation.

NORTH ATLANTIC RATE AGREEMENT IS SOUGHT
Berlin, Jan. 12 (U.N.S.)—Representatives of North Atlantic Shipping Companies will meet here today Thursday in attempt to reach a rate agreement that will avert the threatened competition, American, German, English, French, Dutch and Italian ships will be reorganized.

Asks Divorce

MRS. SHATTUCK
Medford woman, wife of L. Eugene Shattuck, testified in her suit that her husband threw her across the room when she refused to show some letters.

Testimony that her husband was "fantastic, teasing and annoying," rather than disagreeable, was given by Edith Turnbull, Shattuck's mother-in-law, who testified that she was present when her son-in-law threw his wife across the room.

The witness told of one occasion when her husband threw her across the room, knocking her one eye, because she refused to yield letters she was writing.

Miss Evelyn Shattuck, Medford, a sister of the husband, testified she entered the room shortly after this incident and found Mrs. Shattuck with a cut under one eye.

GIRL FIGHTS OFF THUG, BUT HE GETS BAG

Attacked by a well-dressed man who tried to force her into a car, a young girl fought off the man and escaped with a bag of money. The man, who was seen running away, was described as being about 30 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighing about 150 pounds. He was wearing a dark suit and a light-colored shirt. The girl, who was about 18 years old, was seen running away from the scene. She was carrying a bag of money and a small suitcase. The incident occurred on a street in the city of Boston.

Miss Brown, 22, told the police she had been to a party with friends and dancing was ended until a late hour. She said the time of the theft was 3:30 a. m. She said the man was twenty-five years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, medium complexion and wore a light suit.

13th to Mount 13 Stairs to Be Hanged Friday, 13th

Whisper, Man, Jan. 12 (A.P.)—Jack Nelson, the "Black Strangler," who is to be hanged tomorrow-Friday, the thirteenth-Friday, will be the thirteenth person to walk up the thirteen stairs to death on the wall of the provincial jail here.

The condemned man was arrested here last June after he was alleged to have slain Mrs. Emily Patterson, a Windsor housewife, and Miss Lola Cowan, fourteen-year-old schoolgirl. In the latter case, police allege Nelson strangled to death at least twelve women. The man does not deny the charges.

NEW ZEALAND FLIERS STILL ON "LOST" ROLL

Whangarei, New Zealand, Jan. 12 (U.N.S.)—The fate of Captain George Hood and Lieutenant J. E. Moore, who were shot down over the Tasman Sea, was still a mystery today. Two airplanes returned after an unsuccessful search for them, but no bodies were found.

The search for the missing fliers has been going on for several days. The New Zealand Air Force has been unable to locate the bodies of the two men.

HUBBY TEASED, SHE TESTIFIES

Testimony that her husband was "fantastic, teasing and annoying," rather than disagreeable, was given by Edith Turnbull, Shattuck's mother-in-law, who testified that she was present when her son-in-law threw his wife across the room.

The witness told of one occasion when her husband threw her across the room, knocking her one eye, because she refused to yield letters she was writing.

Miss Evelyn Shattuck, Medford, a sister of the husband, testified she entered the room shortly after this incident and found Mrs. Shattuck with a cut under one eye.

GRAY'S EXECUTION MAY BE HALTED PENDING ACTION ON RUTH

and he vainly attempted to comfort her. He was accompanied by the Rev. Patrick Murphy, the Catholic priest who instructed Ruth when she changed from the Lutheran religion to Catholicism shortly after her arrest for the murder of her husband. Father Murphy conferred with Warden Lewis E. Lawes. He is known to be anxious to give Mrs. Snyder consolation in her last moments.

As the day dragged to a close, Mrs. Snyder's self-communing was subjected to merciful interruptions. Dr. Joseph Moore of the Massachusetts State Hospital for the Insane arrived. Later Dr. George Smith and Dr. Paul Taddiken, other menbers of the lunacy commission, came to make the usual examination of condemned prisoners before they go to the chair. The State is unwilling to put to death insane persons, no matter when their madness is discovered.

The psychiatrists, as is their custom, had nothing to say. From Warden Lawes had already come word that Mrs. Snyder and Gray were in "good condition."

Twenty-Five Offers to Take Ruth's Place

When Gray perfunctorily signed the habeas corpus application, he waved his hand wearily to his attorney and said:

"Yes, go ahead—go ahead. But nothing is of any use. There is nothing more to hope for. I am doomed, I am going, and what is more important, I am ready."

From newspapers Gray had learned that Governor Smith had denied his plea for mercy, and he took the bad news with the same stoicism of manner that has characterized his conduct since he first was incarcerated in the house of death.

No application for the admission of Lorraine to see her mother was received by the warden, who said he doubted that such a request would be made.

Dr. C. C. Sweet, one of the prison doctors, made a brief examination of Ruth and Judd and found them in fair condition.

Twenty-five women, Warden Lawes revealed, have written him offering to take Ruth's place in the electric chair.

Lawes also let it be known that the heads of neither of the condemned would be shaved completely before they are seated in the chair. The hair will be cut from an area about an inch square on the crown above the ears. Here the head electrodes of the execution apparatus will have ample contact.

Mother Visits Ruth to Say Last Farewell

Sing Sing Prison, N. Y., Jan. 12.—The chalky faced old woman with the bent shoulders and dull eyes came to Sing Sing prison at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon for the last time—save one.

She came to tell her baby girl good-bye and Ruth Brown Snyder, who will not be transferred for this execution.

No notification of a change in the date or time of execution has been sent to Executioner Robert Elliott and in accordance with his usual custom, he will report at the warden's office at 6 o'clock tonight.

Lawes made specific his instructions that Elliott be reappointed of the hour of reporting in order that no confusion might develop over talk of a stay.

Leaders of New York Bar Question Judge Levy's Power

New York, Jan. 12.—Men high in the legal profession here today said that in their opinion Justice Aaron J. Levy had no power or authority to stay the execution of Mrs. Ruth Snyder.

"Warden Lawes," they contended, "can ignore the writ, if he chooses, and proceed with the execution as he had planned."

They called attention to the precedent in the history of executions in New York State in which a stay was granted the case in 1917 of William W. Von der Corput, murderer of Mrs. Barbara Wright.

ONLY ONE DAY. Von der Corput benefited by one day of life through his stay, and then was electrocuted.

The appellate division, passing judgment on an appeal for a writ of "habeas corpus," to bring him into General Sessions for a hearing regarding a new trial, reversed.

"We find that we have not the power, any attempt by indictment to stay the execution would be fruitless and increase attempt to interfere with the executive power."

Attention of the appellate body was called at the hearing to the statute providing that no judge, court or officer other than the governor can relieve or suspend the execution of a defendant sentenced to the punishment of death, except when a writ is authorized to do so in certain cases which the law outlined.

SEE NO GROUNDS. Lawes and Judd consulted and that they saw in the Snyder case no grounds sufficient to warrant a supreme court stay.

Baldon before the Von der Corput case had the State seen such a right to save a condemned man from death. Von der Corput's execution had been set for 5:18 a. m. Friday, April 26, 1917.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 12 (U.S.N.S.)—Seventeen men who were scheduled to go on trial in Superior Court here today, charged with the fleecing of Purvis and Ernie Brown, Holly Springs youths, stood already freed from court convened.

A flaw in the indictment returned against the men which charged them with committing a misdemeanor rather than a felony resulted in their liberty.

Seventeen men, charged with the fleecing of E. A. Jones, rural merchant, and Sam Green, his neighbor, are scheduled to go on trial here next month at a special term of court ordered by Governor McLean.

Posture is all-important in child-health. Bad posture means ill-formed bones, restricted breathing and frequent stunting of growth.

Good posture, you know, begins at the feet. If the feet and ankles are weak, then you can't expect the child to grow straight and strong.

We know how shoes should be built to provide for good posture. We know that they should be foot-roomy, . . . that they should give support at the ankles, . . . that they should be fitted very, very carefully. And because we're so careful on all these points, many parents won't think of permitting their children to wear any other than Coward Shoes!

GUNS BLAZE AS TWO ARE NABBED IN 14-MILE CHASE

Lovell, Jan. 12.—After a 14-mile chase, during which three shots were fired, three Boston police officers overhauled an auto laden with stolen auto tires in Chelsea street, near Lincoln square, early today.

Two men—Louis Shanno, twenty-seven, and Edmund A. Javot, twenty-two, both of Lovell, were arrested, charged with breaking and entering and larceny.

A second auto escaped as it weaved into another street as the three machines rounded the city. It was found later abandoned in School street, empty.

Two bullets went into the car in which Shanno and Javot were riding.

Mercy for Ruth

"LET HER REPENT"
Mrs. Rose Needle, Nahant avenue, Revere, one of several writers of letters to the Boston Evening American today expressing the opinion that Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray should not be executed. Mrs. Needle would be merciful for Lorraine's sake.

'LET RUTH LIVE,' IS PLEASE TODAY IN LETTERS

Everybody in Massachusetts, seemingly, has a very definite opinion as to whether Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray should die in the electric chair. Letters on the subject continued today to be poured in like an avalanche on the Boston Evening American office as Mrs. Snyder received at least another day of life and Warden Leaves of Sing Sing decided upon the hour Judd Gray should die. Some of the letters follow:

MRS. ROSE NEEDLE, Nahant avenue, Revere.
I have mercy upon the mother for the sake of the child. Commune her sentence to life imprisonment. Let her live and see her child.

DR. WILLIAM FRANKMAN, Commonwealth avenue—knocked to see how many apparently anti-heated, kind souls of the good-natured sex are willing for blood just as this Ruth Snyder. Murder is murder even when it is committed by the Empire State. Put the electric chair in the museum as a token of our ignorance.

MRS. ADA WALSH, Warren—Yes, Ruth Snyder should die in the chair. She had no sympathy for her husband, her child or her dear mother. Why show any sympathy to her? In my opinion, she should die.

MISS GERTRUDE BOURGEOIS, Sherbrooke, Que.—I do not think Ruth Snyder should die, and I do not think she should be put to rest, but the imprisonment would be sufficient enough for her crime. I wish Governor Smith could pardon Ruth.

MRS. E. CORNELL, Reading—Ruth deserves to die. She has broken the law of our country and transgressed the holy bond of motherhood.

MRS. DORA MESSIER, Williams street—I cannot believe it is the wish of the majority of women that Ruth Snyder should die in the chair. I would temper justice with mercy and I feel that is the sentiment of all working girls.

DAN TAKULLO, Somerville—Ruth Snyder and Gray should suffer. I have no sympathy for them, yet I don't believe in capital punishment. If I had my way I would make love with her and work and keep them in prison for the rest of their lives.

MISS IRENE MADRIEN, Boston street—Ruth Snyder is a poor girl with Henry Judd Gray and should suffer. The electric chair is too easy a death.

CLARA DOW, Forest Hills—Let Ruth Snyder live. Why leave Judd Gray out? He is more worthy to live than she. If he is to die, then Ruth Snyder should die. I leave in capital punishment for all sinners.

Mohair is the name of a material that is made in numerous grades and qualities. There are very many much cheaper and inferior Mohairs used for upholstery materials. The difference is as night is to day. The MOHAIR used in these suits is 100% HIGH GRADE MOHAIR of a very fine quality—really that is used only in a higher priced suit!

Please do not compare these suits with any you've ever seen before at this price! — You must see this suite to appreciate the huge value!

These suits are built in the same manner as $500 custom-built suits are built—everything that goes into the inner construction of the finest suits is put into these suits.

WEB CONSTRUCTION
Cross section showing full-fashioned construction—the most resilient and luxurious type of upholstery. Webbing closely tacked to frame in staggered sequence—eliminates possibility of frame splitting, and prevents webbing from falling down.

SPRING CONSTRUCTION
Cross section, showing high tempered, deep steel spring construction. All springs are double-shanked and bound with heavy quality Italian steel, an improvement in spring methods that prevents collapsing and assures life-long service.

HUBBARD CAN'T AGREE ON STAY GIVEN RUTH

Boston attorneys, veterans familiar with the procedure of the criminal and civil courts, today expressed criticism and approval of the decision of Judge Fay of the New York Supreme Court granting Mrs. Ruth Snyder a stay of execution. Their opinions follow:

ATTORNEY F. EDWARD FARVEY—The question is one of procedure and it seems to me that Judge Fay has been indulgent. It would appear that the question of fair trial had been fairly answered by the Supreme Court and the review of Governor Smith.

FORMER ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY VINCENT GARRITY—I was disappointed in that ruling of Judge Fay. It seems to me that it was just turning a corner to accommodate counsel for Mrs. Snyder. It is not in accordance with the law, in my opinion.

ATTORNEY CHARLES G. KEENE—The granting of a stay of execution shows that our laws and procedure need to be tightened up. It is a last minute stab to prevent the law being enforced and it shows the absurdity of a situation where one man may stand in the way of the course of justice.

ATTORNEY JOHN H. DREW—No harm is done by a stay of twenty-four hours. It is apparent that Judge Fay had in mind the need of Mrs. Snyder's testimony in the action brought by the company which insured her husband. It is my belief that he was not aware of his ground and he must take his decision in order to give the case some study or to have someone else come forward and show why should not grant it for a stay.

ATTORNEY SAMUEL MARKELL of GOLFINGTON and STORRS—In my opinion it was perfectly proper for the judge to grant a stay. There is no immediate need of demanding her for the chair for execution. Very defendant, until executed, is entitled to all the privileges of law.

ATTORNEY JOHN W. MCCORMACK—Judge Fay was clearly within his rights in granting a stay. The rights of the little girl are paramount and if Mrs. Snyder's testimony is needed on the question of payment of her husband's insurance, the best way to get a proper decision. Society should be just as much interested in that little girl as it is in sending her mother to the chair.

DOOMED FACE GRIM POTINE ON LAST DAY

Oresting, N. Y., Jan. 12 (A.P.)—The deadly routine of an execution was vividly described today by Edmond W. Hickey of Tarrytown, N. Y., former chief clerk at Sing Sing prison.

An execution day at Sing Sing is much like any other day until about noon, when the close relatives call for their last visit with the condemned," he said. "The world usually allows them to remain a little longer the last day."

"The storekeeper asks their desires for dinner and supper. The prisoners can be kept busy until the last letters written by the condemned and the chief clerk of the warden's secretary may be called to witness a last statement or legal document."

"In a case where unusual interest has been aroused, guard shift coming off duty at 2:30 is ordered back to stand by and one stationed outside the prison gate to keep the curious at a distance. There is nothing to see outside the prison, but a crowd usually congregates."

AWAIT EXECUTIONER.—"About 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon the executioner arrives. He is not to appear by 4 o'clock, the warden and the electrician begin to check the machinery."

"The law compels the warden to carry out the execution, and should the executioner fail to appear, it would be the duty of the electrician to throw the switch."

"The executioner usually sits awhile in the reception room, possibly alongside relatives awaiting to say goodbye to the condemned. He remains at his post until closing time, then goes to the village for supper and probably attends a motion picture show to take his mind from the impending ordeal."

"At 9 o'clock, the executioner reports back to the prison, tests the chair and apparatus and buses himself for the death chamber. He is then taken to the execution room."

"Meanwhile the prison clerks have gone over the account books and ascertained what salaries and money are left by the condemned. They visit the prisoner and what deposits he wishes to make of his property."

PRAY AS DEATH NEARS.—"Newspaper reporters and official witnesses arrive by 9 o'clock. The warden nervously takes to and from his home to the office. The clerk makes out the death certificate."

"At 10:45 the witnesses are lined up, the spiritual advisers are taken to the execution room and the executioner is ready to go."

"The witnesses are marshaled right through the gate to the hall and through the prison yard to the death chamber. The prisoner is waited in. In about six minutes the execution is over."

"The witnesses, silent by the track, they have just witnessed, hurry out again from the death house, through the big gate and disappear into the night."

"Mrs. Weichmann was the first of the sisters to arrive at the office. But she was followed soon after by the other two."

When his meeting ended, Prosecutor Fay said the exceedingly company investigation was still going on, but that not for a month, perhaps, could the auditor's discovery be completed and made public.

FIGHTS ARREST IN DRUG CASE

A clerk had containing seven cans of morphine. The witness testified that can produced in court as those which he had turned over to the law school student. He said he told (should they contained drugs) and advised him to get them out of town, as there was twenty years for anyone in whose possession they were found. The witness said he took the drivers from the back box of the car he drove, which he parked in the garage, and found placed them in his life before."

The student took the stand and denied he had been told the bag contained drugs, and he never possessed it. He admitted he passed it on to Fletcher on the morning of January 10, acting under Foster's orders, but even then was not suspicious. He said at the time of the visit of the narcotic agents he delivered another can to Fletcher in the afternoon.

Federal agents who made the arrests of Fletcher and Foster, and could attempt to conceal delivery of the can in the afternoon. Commissioner Jenner took the issuance of the warrant under advisement.

VOICING THE GREAT DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

FIGHT RETURNS OVER WLOE

By THORNTON W. BURGESS
 One of the experiences of most radio fans of broadcasting, I am sure, is the feeling of being a part of the fight over the ownership of the station. The fight over the ownership of the station is a fight over the future of the station. The fight over the ownership of the station is a fight over the future of the station. The fight over the ownership of the station is a fight over the future of the station.

RADIO CAN TEACH ALL

By THORNTON W. BURGESS
 The radio is a powerful medium for teaching. It can reach millions of people in a matter of minutes. It can teach them about the world, about science, about history, about art. It can teach them about the values of life. It can teach them about the responsibilities of citizenship. It can teach them about the beauty of nature. It can teach them about the power of love. It can teach them about the meaning of life.

WLOE Director

WILLIAM S. POTE
 As managing director of station WLOE Mr. Pote supervises the arrangement of all programs for the thousands of radio fans who tune in on WLOE regularly.

'Ford Working Too Hard; He's Thin,' Says Edison

West Orange, N. J., Jan. 12 (A.P.).—Thomas A. Edison left today for his winter residence at Fort Myers, Fla. Henry Ford, who spent the night at the Edison home in Lincoln Park, returned to New York for several days before joining Edison in Florida.

Edison had announced he was coming to New York today, and when the latter was asked before he boarded his private railroad car at Newark why the automobile manufacturer did not allow himself to be interviewed, he said: "Oh, Henry couldn't go. He'll join us in a few days. He might as well come now, though. He never lets me rest. He is working too hard and getting thin. Why, right now you can read a newspaper through him."

THU RSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1928

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"TAKE my lid off to Judge Fuchs and Charley Adams of the 1927 team. I hope Mr. Boston today to be read every de-tailoring the big baseball team by which the Braves get

Hogan Hornsby in return for Hogan and Welsh. "You can tell the world that for once Boston has got the best of a directly a day sale," went on the veteran.

"I am sure you will agree, one of the best catches in the majors.

Neither do I care to see Welsh change to a Giant uniform, but I think it is a pity to see a player more big, games with the Giants, and the Braves get the best of a day sale.

"The Braves and the Giants give the Braves power in the infield.

It has furnished the club with the batting punch so necessary for success. The Braves are the greatest second baseman in the majors. The Braves are the best pitcher in the majors.

HORNSBY ASSERTS THAT STONEHAM IS LIAR

By HAROLD JOHNSON

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 12.—Branding as absolute lies, the allegations of President Charles Stoneham, that he had at any time sought to undermine John J. McGraw and gain the management of the New York Giants, Rogers Hornsby, the heavy-hitting second-sacker traded Tuesday night by the Giants to the lowly Boston Braves, today declared emphatically that he still was in a maze over the whole transaction.

Stoneham, principal owner of the Giants, yesterday was quoted as saying Hornsby had been turned over to the Braves for Galtier Frank Hogan, a comparative rookie and Jimmy Welsh, an average outfielder, to "avoid future conflict in the management of the Giants." Before this statement by Stoneham the fans throughout America had entertained a number of ideas about the case.

Stoneham's statement was a complete reversal of the story which had been told by McGraw and Hornsby. It was the first time that Stoneham had spoken since the trade.

Panel 1: A man in a suit sits at a desk, looking at a newspaper. The newspaper headline reads: "DOCTORS' GUILD GOES ON STRIKE. HOSPITALS ARE NOW FULLY OPERATING UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF THE DOCTORS' GUILD. THE STRIKE HAS CAUSED A SIGNIFICANT INCREASE IN THE COST OF MEDICAL SERVICES. THE DOCTORS' GUILD HAS DEMANDS FOR A 10% INCREASE IN SALARY AND A 5% INCREASE IN BENEFITS. THE STRIKE HAS CAUSED A SIGNIFICANT INCREASE IN THE COST OF MEDICAL SERVICES. THE DOCTORS' GUILD HAS DEMANDS FOR A 10% INCREASE IN SALARY AND A 5% INCREASE IN BENEFITS." The man says: "I TELL YOU I USE THE MORTUARY TO PAY THE DOCTOR. I DON'T QUESTION HIM FURTHER. I MUST GO AGAIN TONIGHT."

4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish literacy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

It would be a sorry day for this world and for the future of the human race if that should change, and there should not be, "after all, any difference between men and women." It will interest you to read "The Single Standard" in the Cosmopolitan. This big-eyed girl, typical of rebellious youth in this and EVERY age, has many disappointments and several awakenings. And she discovers that there IS, "after all, a difference between men and women."

All this goes towards making up that intangible something known as good will.

Sincerely yours,
THOMAS J. McGRATH,
